CITY TRUSTEES.

At the regular meeting Wednesday evening there were only three members present. President Parcher being absent, as was also the city attorney, nothing but routine business was transacted, the meeting adjourning until Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

At Thursday's meeting a full board was present and City Attorney Baker was also at the post of duty. The first business of importance was the reading of a petition from the Los Angeles Interurban Railway Co. for permission to lay a track and run up the alley north of Fourth street just west of Glendale avenue, as far as First street. Favoring this application was a petition numerously signed by the owners of property along the alley.

A similar communication was also read from the Salt Lake Railroad Co., asking the same privilege for their track from First street down to Fourth street. Representatives of the interested companies were present, and in compliance with request made by them, the matter was laid over until the next regular meeting.

A petition was presented signed by a number of property owners, protesting against the setting of electric light and other poles along streets in the neighborhood of L street and Second and Third. It was stated that an easement of five feet in the rear of the lots had been reserved in regard to certain property for this specific purpose, but the city attorney stated that as long as this easement is not turned over to the city the Board has no jurisdiction over it. Street Superintendent Sinclair reported that he had granted the Electric Light Co. permission to use the streets at one time, but had rescinded it on account of the opposition to it on the part of property owners. The city attorney was of the opinion that if the light company had a general permit from the county it was doubtful whether the city could restrain them.

Mr. Blackburn stated that the company by going half a block from the location they desired would find an alley that would answer their purpose as well as the street. The city attorney doubted whether the company could be compelled to jog back and forth to a very great extent from the desirable straight course.

The matter was finally left to the street superintendent with full power to act.

A resolution passed to second reading authorizing the appointment of a deputy tax and license collector, fixing his remuneration at ten per cent. The tax collector presented the delinquent list, showing something over $900 in taxes still unpaid, upon which the penalty of ten per cent is now payable.

The proposition of a bond issue then came up for discussion. The committee appointed to make a recommendation on the subject reported that they favor an issue of $22,000, running 40 years at 6 per cent, divided as follows: For fire protection, $3500; for library, $1500; for purchase of lot and building City Hall, $17,000.

A number of spectators present expressed themselves in regard to the matter, the most of them being of the opinion that the sum suggested was not sufficient for the purposes mentioned. It was finally decided to have a mass meeting of citizens to discuss the subject and get a general consensus of opinion in regard to it, as it is necessary in an election for a bond issue to secure two-thirds of the votes cast at the election, and the Trustees are anxious to have the proposition as popular as possible.

An ordinance regulating the laying of water and gas pipes in the public streets was passed to third reading.

Sabbath Observance Day

On Wednesday, January 16th, there will be held at the Presbyterian church a convention of the Sabbath Observance Association of Southern California.

There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions, meeting at 9, 2 and 7:30. Addresses will be delivered by the pastors of the local churches, Rev. J. B. Holley, president of the Sabbath Observance Association; Rev. Wiley J. Phillips of Los Angeles; the Hon. Mark G. McCaslin of Whittier, and J. D. Wilson, field secretary of the Association.

Rev. Edgar Leavitt will discuss the question: Was Saturday the Sabbath of the Jews before the time of Christ.

There will be music by J. Bruce Evans and others.

All sessions are open to the public and an interesting program will repay all who take time to attend any or all the sessions.

In the hurry of making up the paper last week an article entitled "A Word to the Wise" slipped past the eagle-eyed editor. It was one of the leftovers of the former administration. As a matter of fact, there is nothing that need be complained of in the article in question, more than that spirit of criticism which in our present stage of development should be discouraged as much as possible. We want electric lights, and it is not practicable at present to have these and the telephone wires put under ground. The editor has observed C street since the article was published and fails to find that the poles alluded to are "unsightly." While there is an alley paralleling that street a portion of the way, it does not extend the whole length of it, and it would be difficult if not impossible to make any better disposition of the poles than has been done.

As soon as the weather permits Contractor Mock, who has already signed his contract with the city for improvements on Fourth street, will commence operations. The grading will be done by J. B. Cathcart.

Sunday, January 6th, the Feast of the Epiphany, or Manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles, was observed at St. Mark's church by the celebration of the Holy Eucharist, with appropriate hymns. The text of the sermon was taken from Matt. 2:9. Some of the lessons deduced from this visit of the wise men from the east to the infant Saviour were as follows: Assuming that these men were astronomers, we learn that God often meets man in man's own path. It was the ordinary employment of these philosophers to contemplate the heavens. This was the work assigned to them by Providence, and expected from them by their fellowmen. In this employment the Lord reveals to them a Saviour. The inference we draw is this: that we need not lay aside the ordinary duties of life to find God. We are all tempted to think that we are not in our right place. But if we are where God has placed us, and where He evidently keeps us. If our employments are honest, such as we may carry on without violating the divine law, then whatever our feelings may say, there is not on earth a situation where we could bring more glory to God.

And then, the devotedness of these men to Christ. They undoubtedly believed on him as the promised Messiah; but not one word appears in this history of any blessing they sought or expected from him. He is spoken of only as a king, and the sole object they profess to have in view in their journey to Him is, that they may lie down in the dust and honor Him there. "We are come," they say, "to worship Him." And they did not content themselves with an empty homage.

And now, what know we of this devotedness? What praise have we rendered Him? What honor have we done Him? Say not that you are nothing and can do nothing. He well knows what you are, and yet He has condescended to ask a gift at your hands. He stands almost as a suppliant before you and He asks of you yourselves. Let us then try anew to give Him of our best. Ashamed of our coldness, of the hollowness of our worship hitherto, let us wake to real liveliness of love and praise, sorrowful at the recollection of how little we have bent ourselves to the influence of the Divine Spirit, let us find our chief joy in renewed efforts to give the King of Glory His own.

Fuel has been as scarce during the last week in Glendale as elsewhere. One of our citizens on Ninth street, learning that the Diamond Coal Co. in Los Angeles was retailing coal by the sack, bought five sacks of it, and when we last heard from he was figuring on getting it hauled home. The action of the Diamond Coal Co. in refusing to sell to dealers and in limiting any one purchaser to five sacks is very commendable.

To Correspondents

We invite correspondence on subjects of general interest, and shall be glad to publish brief letters. But, as a general rule, we do not care for contributions that will fill more than a column of our paper; and if their contributions are cut down by the editor to that limit, correspondents will please bear in mind that our paper at present is limited as to size, and we are not asking for "something to fill up with."

It is the aim of the editors of the News to make of their paper a model of its class. We do not hope to attain this high ideal in a brief time; but it is the object toward which we shall bend our efforts with, we believe, a reasonable prospect of ultimate success. To the average man and woman of this busy day and generation, the daily newspaper with its manifold pages of linotyped matter, is getting to be a nightmare and a nuisance, and there is bound to be a rebellion upon the part of the reading public that will consign the hundred-page editions to the limbo of things forgotten, and result in less matter even if at the cost of less meat. The busy man picks up one of our big dailies with a feeling of weariness and discouragement, fearful that he may chance to miss the grain of wheat hidden in the bushel of chaff, and yet dreading the task of searching for it.

A weekly paper cannot take the place of a daily edition as far as the majority of the newspaper reading public is concerned; but there is a wide field of usefulness which can be filled by the less pretentious publication. It can to a considerable extent save the time of the average reader by presenting to him in condensed form the news of the week gleaned from the dailies, even if it serves no better purpose than as an index of current events. This the News will endeavor to do; and as an illustration of the possibilities of usefulness in this direction, we shall, during the next two months, endeavor to give our readers a fair idea of the work of our legislature at Sacramento, with comments and gossip written by one who is familiar with the subject, so that our readers may, in the few minutes required to read weekly our articles under that head, be better informed than the average citizen who endeavors to pick it out of the columns on the same subject dished up by the daily press.

Sugar

It is reported that beet sugar producers of Southern California resent the position taken by Representative Needham, who agrees with the President that the tariff on Philippine products should be reduced twenty-five per cent. Mr. Needham cast the decisive vote on the question in the Ways and Means Committee which reported favorably on the proposition. Among those protesting against Mr. Needham's action was the Spreckles people who raise and refine sugar. Senators Flint and Perkins are opposed to the bill, on the ground that it will injure California producers of sugar.

It is possible that Mr. Needham has an idea that he is in Congress to represent the American people to some extent; if so, 'tis grievously wrong. Everybody knows that a California representative in Congress is supposed not to aspire to the heights of statesmanship. He is not sent to Congress to represent the people, either of the United States or of California. His duty, from our highly altruistic point of view, is to represent the Chamber of Commerce of his native town, and whatever industries of a protected nature may happen to exist in his bailiwick.

The people who earn a living out of the production of sugar beets in California are comparatively few in number. Were they deprived of the opportunity of raising the saccharine vegetable for the purpose of selling it at a ridiculously low price per ton to the "protected" factory, the loss to them would probably not be irreparable.

Meanwhile the people of California, a million and a half or so, are compelled to pay for this staple which they all use, a price far in excess of the cost of production, that a few refiners may remain millionaires. And over in the Pacific, four thousand miles or so, the people whom we have adopted as the wards of our nation, "to protect and defend," are being systematically robbed by a tariff on their products which is iniquitous as applied to them and unjust to the seventy-five millions of our people at home who are not allowed to reap the full benefits of possession. The only objection we see to a reduction of the tariff on Philippine products by 25 per cent is, that the reduction should be 100 per cent.

We congratulate Representatives Needham, McKinley and Kahn.

McClure's magazine began advertising some time ago, a history of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the Christian Scientist, to begin in their January number. The December McClures published what purported to be a photograph of Mrs. Eddy taken some years ago. No sooner had the photograph been published than the Christian Scientists rushed into print with affidavits showing pretty conclusively that the picture was not one of Mrs. Eddy. A little later there were published affidavits from a man named Chevalier, somewhere in Texas, affirming that the published photograph was one of his mother, Mrs. A. A. Chevalier. This item will be of interest to some of our Glendale and Crescenta people, who probably remember Mrs. Chevalier. She and her daughter lived for a year or so in La Crescenta eight or ten years ago. The daughter was well known in club and literary circles in Los Angeles. Mrs. Chevalier died two or three years ago.

The only remarkable thing about the incident is, that the Christian Scitists should take the matter so seriously. It is so very evident that the McClure people were imposed upon, that it might be supposed that affidavits were unnecessary. Mrs. Chevalier was a rather good looking old lady, and really looks better in a picture than Mrs. Eddy, if newspaper reproductions can be relied upon. Miss Ida Tarbell, who is to write the McClure articles, is generally regarded as a reliable historian, and to an outside barbarian, the incident of the photograph looks very much like a scheme to discredit the forthcoming history before its character is known.

Ode to Glendale

(BY AN EXILE)

The wild dove is cooing far back in the glen Where laurel and dogwood have climbed up the steep
Apart from the paths of the children of men
Who close to the clearway and slowly must creep.
The wild dove is cooing, its tenderness thrills
The sycamores silent that watch
neath the hills.
The shimmering myriad wings of the glade
Like shuttles of silver vibrate in the breeze,
And soft to the ear 'neath the live-
oak, a glad shade
The pean primeval of murmuring bees.
The wood' bees are humming,
the cicade sings,
And deep in the fern is the ripple
of springs
In the roar of the city, the ruck of the mart
If a wandering child of the glen may be found,
No harm shall befall it but true be its heart.
To the spot it loves best, to the scene,
to the sound;
And far may he stray ere its glamor shall fail,
Ere charm of the alien o'er its charms prevail.
But the dale hath delights too, that none can gainsay
In its opulent orchards of orange and lime;
Its homes and its temples, its children at play
In gardens where always 'tis sweet summertime.
Ah, dear to the dweller, each foot of his grove
Made precious by labor, by home and by love.
As sweets to the sweet so the calm of
of the dale
With the innocent joys of the glen doth combine:
The scent of the hillside, the plaint
of the quail,
The glory of fruitage, the grace of
the vine;
The farm's varied voices, the cock's
cheery hail,
The bark of the watchdog, the lowing
of kine.
Stay, wanderer, here in this valley of rest
For these are the rooftrees of

CALIFORNIA LIBRARY ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The annual meeting of the State Library Association was held at Redlands January 3-4, and was the first meeting of this organization which has been held south of the Tehachapi.

The delegation was met at River side by a committee of the library board of that place and shown through their beautiful well-planned and equipped mission style Carnegie public library. As guests of the Board of Trade the guests were later served with a delicious and much appreciated dinner.

At Redlands delegates received a cordial personal greeting extended by Miss Humphries and a representative committee of trustees and librarians of the A. K. Smiley library.

The gatherings of the association were held in rooms of the Contemporary Club house, where was tendered on the night of their arrival an elegant reception to the guests by the ladies of this representative woman's club. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Suess, which was appropriately responded to by J. L. Gillis, state secretary. Miss Sutliff, the capable state secretary, gave an appreciated report concerning California library work.

Very appropriately, Mr. A. K. Smiley addressed the association. He told of the founding of the A. K. Smiley public library by his twin brother and himself. This public institution and many other acquisitions of utility and beauty are the result of the generosity of this benefactor, whom the people hold in high esteem.

The talk on the Narragansett Pier meeting of the National Library Association, given by Charles S. Greene, librarian Oakland Free Library, disclosed the advantages and opportunities to be gained at such an assemblage of great and illustrious minds.

The report of the committee on relations between schools and libraries was comprehensive and productive of thought along this important line.

Mrs. Beatrice Schwan, trustee of Pomona Public Library, read a bright paper of considerable scope on the duties of a trustee.

Probably the heaviest and most exhaustive paper of the convention was that on work of the legislative reference department of the California State Library by Ernest Bruncken, chief of the sociological department of the state library, who handled his subject in a most comprehensive manner.

One of the entertaining features of this meeting was an automobile ride in the city and suburbs and out into the country through luxurious orange groves amid the beautiful scenery of Redlands.

An interesting and helpful collection of a large number of illustrative exhibits of library methods were to be seen in the handsome and commodious library building and in the club house.

How and where to buy books was spoken of by Mr. L. W. Ripley, librarian Sacramento Public Library.

The exhibits: Advertising the Library, in charge of Mr. F. B. Graves, librarian Alameda Public Library; Books for the Blind, in charge of Miss Prentiss, and Traveling Library, in charge of Glendale's library secretary, were the only three placed in the auditorium where the reception and principal meetings were held. Glendale was honored by being chosen from among the towns of the state having traveling libraries because of the gratifying growth of this library towards becoming a public library.

Since taking advantage of the state traveling libraries. Exhibited with the sample traveling library and adjoining Mr. Graves' exhibit of advertising a library, was a bulletin of clippings from the Glendale News, showing the growth and development of our library.

Upon the closing night of the library meeting a banquet was participated in by the body at the Casa Loma hotel.

During the return trip a stop was made at Pasadena, where the board of trade had planned a drive through the city and a trip to Mt. Lowe, but bad weather interfered with this and also prevented many from taking advantage of Mr. Lummis' cordial invitation to visit the Los Angeles Public Library and call at his uniquely original and interesting home.

Much praise is due Misses Humphries and Jacobus, the president and secretary of the Fourth District, who as official hostesses did much towards promoting a general feeling of cordiality among the strangers.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Services at St. Mark's church on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Everyone cordially invited.

The delightful weather which followed the storm, brought many visitors to Glendale Friday and Saturday.

Skating at the Rink Saturday night. Music by Mrs. Ed. S. Ayers. Everybody invited. Come out and enjoy yourselves.

Misses Ruth and Grace Foote, of Ocean Park are stopping with W. A. Talbott and were entertained at Sunday dinner by Mrs. D. A. Talbott.

The Lord's Supper will be observed at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning at 11. The topic of meditation will be "The Drawing Power of the Cross of Christ."

Mr. S. J. Coleman, former owner of the Weidenfeller place on Glendale avenue, visited us on Friday. Mr. Coleman expressed surprise at the evidences of Glendale's growth.

The ladies of St. Mark's Guild met with Mrs. Pitcher on Second street, Thursday afternoon. The meeting was an interesting one and much good work was accomplished.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Dixon, motorman on the Fourth St. line, is to be transferred to the main line. Mr. Dixon has made himself popular with our citizens and we regret to lose him.

The Misses Kennedy, who have been residing on Second street in the house formerly occupied by Mr. Pack, leave to-day for San Diego, the death of their mother recently having necessitated a change in their plans for the winter.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Colvin, at her residence on First street, Friday afternoon. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the attendance was good and a very satisfactory report was received of good work accomplished by the society.

Mr. Thomas Hezmalhalch left Glendale Saturday last for another trip East. He will visit Arizona and other points en route to Toronto, Ontario. After remaining there for awhile he will return to Zion City, (Chicago) where he may remain indefinitely.

Mr. J. D. Casou, a prominent and old resident of Pomona, visited Glendale the other day as the guest of Mr. Overton. Mr. Casou had visited Glendale some fifteen years ago and, of course, was struck by the change and improvement which had taken place in the meantime. There is at least a possibility of Mr. Carson settling among us.

On Saturday, January 29th, the former Michigan people residing in Southern California will hold their great annual picnic at East Lake park in Los Angeles. Of the many holidays and fete days, none are looked forward to with greater anticipation by the Michiganders of this section than this annual gathering, and the coming one promises to be a bigger success than ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, of Lansing, Mich., en-route for the Orient last week, visited Glendale, where they were the guests of Mrs. Elias Ayres and Miss Galloway. In coming here Mr. and Mrs. Holmes had a narrow escape in a railroad accident near Stockton. The train in which they were traveling was derailed and a half dozen coaches overturned including the one in which Mr. and Mrs. Holmes were. They made their escape through the windows with slight injuries. That the accident resulted in no serious injury to anyone is the remarkable thing about it.

The annual business meeting of the Baptist church held Thursday evening was a very pleasant occasion, there not being one discouraging feature shown in review of the year's work. A program of music and addresses preceded the business meeting. Mrs. Carlton, Mrs. Banker, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Peck contributing to the musical part. An address was made by Rev. C. H. Lockwood in which he spoke upon the command of Joshua, "Go Forward." Prof. H. H. Sanford welcomed the new members received in the church during the year and Mr. R. H. Brown responded on their behalf. A large number of the members of the church were present and responded to roll call which was followed by a report from the various departments in which it was shown that the church has no debts but has a balance in the treasury of each department. The election of officers for the ensuing year took place and all felt that they want to move forward under leadership of the pastor, Rev. W. F. Stone to more enduring things than they have been able to accomplish, looking always to the Head of the church for wisdom and guidance.

The Weather

Since last Saturday morning there has fallen in Glendale seven and a half inches of rain. Until during the last twenty-four hours of the storm, almost none of the water went to waste, and the irrigation problem for the coming season is greatly simplified. During the latter part of the storm however, the already well soaked earth refused to take any more of the water and it began to make its way down hill. Many surrounding towns suffered severely from high water and washouts, while the railroad north and east of Los Angeles were put out of business for awhile. In the neighborhood of San Fernando and Pacoima high waters did a great deal of damage to fields and orchards. The stream at Tejuca incapacitated the railroad bridge and is said to have been a mile wide. Santa Barbara suffered greatly in the loss of a portion of her boulevard along the ocean front, and indeed there has been considerable damage done during this, the most severe rainstorm for the past twenty years.

Glendale has been fortunate in receiving practically no damage at all. There is a bad washout on Third street north of the school house and some damage was done at the corner of A and Fifth streets; but on the whole we have great reason to be thankful for the fortunate conditions by which we are surrounded.

We are not, however, in a position to safely disregard the warning of possible danger that has been given us, and the city trustees will at once, we hope, take steps toward providing for the storm water that comes down by the school house in time of flood. This neighborhood seems to be in the way of the natural course of this flood water, and it ought to be provided for. As it is at present, every property owner selfishly protects himself at the expense of his neighbors and the public roads. The storm appears to be over, and as the snow lies only on the higher mountains there seems to be a promise of pleasanter weather than followed the storm which preceded this one.

State Legislature

The California legislature is again in session, and opens most inauspiciously. The railroad program has gone through without a hitch. Beardsley, who has never been conspicuous for ability in previous sessions, has been elected speaker. His opponent, Drew, of Fresno, is far too able and independent a man to have had any chance of success. When such a man as Drew becomes speaker, we can hope for something like reform in our legislative methods. Transue of Los Angeles is speaker pro tem. He has plenty of ability to fill the position creditably, is a close partner of Hon. Phil Stanton, and neither of them have any particular desire, judging from their past records, to reform anything. However, Stanton did make some show of a fight against the allowance for attaches, and he should be credited for his stand on that subject this time. The San Francisco grafters are at the head and front of the offending, with their eloquent and unscrupulous leader, Coghlen, to the fore. The attaché scandal is opening up worse than usual. It was bad enough at the last session, but the allowance has been increased. The senators voted themselves $25 a day per member. This means that every senator is allowed to put on the pay roll a number of employees, committee clerks, doorkeepers, sergeant-at-arms, etc., the aggregate daily wages of whom shall be $25 a day for the 60 day session. In other words, the forty senators will spend daily the sum of $1000 for a corps of 200 or 300 men, women and boys to assist them ostensibly at their statesmanlike labors. One tenth of these employees will have to work hard, two tenths will fairly earn their pay, two tenths will perform one day's work per week, and the remainder will loaf, because no work is provided for them, and some of their number will sell their power of attorney to a broker who will draw their pay while they go to their respective homes, being relieved of even the irksome responsibility of signing the pay roll.

In the assembly, the allowance has been made $13 per day as against $10 at last session. This will be $1040 per day for the 60 days but the allowance will no doubt be increased to at least 15 dollars per member if the contingent fund holds out. Some of the thrifty members will see that their wives in some cases, and other members of their families get appointments as attaches. Our representative from this district, in the senate will be in this class. Charley Bell, of Pasadena, elected as a Non-partisan, was not admitted to the Republican caucus. This should be an advantage if he wishes to pursue an independent course. Charley is not red-headed for nothing and he ought to give the 39 others a severe jolt now and then. Belshaw and some others favored his admission to caucus. We should expect this of Belshaw, as he is one of the ablest and most independent members of the upper house. Coghlen already introduced a resolution to buy a copy of the Code of California for every member of the assembly. This same resolution passed the last legislature and every member lugged home six or seven volumes at $5 per vol. to be added to his previous collection, if he happened to be a lawyer or to have had experience as an employee of a grateful state. Its going to be pretty lively in Sacramento this winter. There may be no bribery cases nor expulsion of members, but we notice that bills to regulate the Insurance companies are beginning to come in and they are of that class of proposed legislation which tends to put money into circulation around the state capital.

The Railroad

While there is nothing definite to report in the situation as concerns a new electric line for Glendale, we have the assurance of the committee having the matter in charge, that the extension of the Huntington line from the present Eagle-Rock branch up the Verdugo Road to the Park, is being arranged for as expeditiously as circumstances will permit. The right of way difficulties that are always encountered in an enterprise of this kind are being gradually surmounted. Much progress in this direction has actually been made during the past few days and practically all the right of way has been secured as far north as Fourth street, with no insurmountable difficulties from there forward.

A Dream

I slept and dreamed, as just men dream;

I seemed within a sylvan shade.
 I gilded down a silvery stream
 Where unseen choir sweet music made.
 Then in an instant changed the scene;
 The very heavens seemed to fall;
 I hung suspended half way 'tween
 The stars and this terrestrial ball.
 The lightning flashed with blinding glare,

While pealed the thunder ceaselessly;
 Gaunt arms reached out to hold me there,

While ghostly shades surrounded me.
 And then I fell—poor mortal fool—
 Waked by the voice of Comstock's mule!

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Annual Report of Conditions in Southern California.

The year just closed has been, for this section, one of prosperity in every line of endeavor. Prices for all fruits and agricultural products are higher than ever before. The value of the principal products of Southern California for the year is estimated at about $140,000,000. A most gratifying expansion is shown in manufacturing interests—$50,000,000 being placed as value of our miscellaneous manufactured products. Citrus fruits and petroleum rank next as wealth producers, credited each with $20,000,000.

The citrus season of 1905-06 was eminently satisfactory to growers, the prices uniformly good, the markets unusually free from disastrous slumps. In September was realized highest price ever paid for a straight carload of California lemons. Selected Brand 300's bringing at auction $9.87 1/2 to $10.00.

The present status of the oil industry shows great reaction from depression of past five years. Markets have been extended until supplies in storage have been exhausted and demand is now far in excess of the supply. Development work is again active, long contracts have been made with Japan and Chili, and with the completion and operation of the Panama pipe line, shipment has begun to Atlantic coast points. Value of hay and grain products reached nearly $7,000,000.

The sugar campaign was the most successful in the history of this industry. The beets produced great tonnage and unusually high percentage of sugar. The output was 115,500,000 pounds of sugar, estimated value being $4,620,000. Bean crop totaled 834,000 bags; hold over stock 40,000. Growers generally refused to contract limas at 3c. early in season. When crop was harvested about one-third crop was sold at $3.25 and $3.00. Market steadily advanced to 4c. and price sustained under liberal movement.

Influenced by too large an estimate of the walnut crop, the Association made prices of 9 to 11c. for soft shell nuts, and 7 1/2 to 10 1/2 for hard shell nuts. Jobbing prices have been 3 to 4c. higher and growers figure Association prices were $500 a carload too low. 600 carloads have been shipped.

Prices for dried fruit and canned goods have been record breaking. Stocks of apricots and peaches are in small compass and are now quoted: Apricots, 15 1/2c. for Standards and 17 1/2c. for Fancy. Peaches, 10 1-2c. Standard and 12 1-2c. Fancy. Only ten per cent. of large prune crop remains in state. Hardening of market continues. 40's are scarce and held at 1 1/2c. premium. Olives are scarce and high this season. Prices have advanced 20 per cent. since June. Recent frost has affected output—only one-third crop is estimated.

Prices for winter vegetables have been higher, demand stronger and shipments heavier than ever before.

From every section of Southern California comes same report of increasing population, the building of many homes, of expanding business and increase in property values. Locally, striking features of the year were increase in number of manufacturing plants, the establishing of stronger commercial relations with the great southwest and commencement of preliminary work on the Owen's river project.

Los Angeles has led all cities of the United States in percentage of increase of bank clearances, postoffice business and building permits. Freight business of roads in and out of city increased 50 per cent. Wholesale business has grown 30 to 40 per cent. Credit conditions never better. Business of many merchants show 25 to 100 per cent. Holiday season was marked by splendid trade, never was demand so great for high class goods. Early rains have come, bringing confidence as to crop results of coming year. Jobbers' stocks that were depleted by heavy fall trade are getting in shape rapidly for anticipated Spring demand. Industry concerns have large orders booked and plans for business extension and new enterprises are many.

Failures for the year 212. Liabilities $780,000. Assets $500,000. For 1905—162 failures. Liabilities $560,000. Assets $275,000.
